11 NOVEMBER

In Flanders Fields

poem by Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, 3 May 1915

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Development Permits

On residential parcels, any buildings that are larger than 100 square feet, including a building on skids, requires a development permit approval.

On agricultural parcels, farming and non-residential farm buildings are "deemed approved" and do not require a development permit. Example of these buildings are pole sheds, Quonsets and shops that are used for the storage and/or repair of farm equipment and livestock. However, these buildings will still require building permits and it is still necessary to ensure that you are meeting the County's yard setback requirements for the placement of your buildings.

All residents, including mobile homes and any buildings used for non-agricultural purposes, require a development permit.

For development of commercial and industrial parcels, please make an appointment with the Development officer, Dallas Logan.

Most development permits take approximately 4 weeks for approval. If your development application must go to the Municipal Planning Commission for a decision, it may take up to 6-8 weeks to receive your development permit.

Development permit applications (and other forms) are available on the County website or contact the County at 780-685-3925.

Change your clock change your batteries

Daylight Saving Time ends officially on Sunday, November 6, 2016 at 2:00 a.m., when it will fall back an hour.

Everyone is reminded to change the batteries in their smoke alarms.

Fire Fighters encourage everyone to not only have working smoke detectors, but carbon monoxide detectors as well.

Sparky Poem-Written by Sarah Zacharias

Sparky saves lives

Parents don't let your children play with fire.

Alarms give warnings

Remember to check your fire alarms

Know where to go if there is a fire

You could live safe if you chose "safe"

Veterans' Week, Remember Them

What should I know about the impacts to my water well?

Alberta Environment and Parks has required setback distances for water wells, but reduced distances may be used with landowner consent. Pre and post activity water testing is the best practice, but it is not an industry requirement. "We always recommend that landowners take the Working Well Workshop," says Schuurman. "This can help you better understand your well and its ability to withstand geophysical exploration."

To view the new Geophysical Exploration and Landowners' Rights publication go to www.farmersadvocate.gov.ab.ca.

They are grandfathers, fathers, brothers, grandmothers, mothers, sisters, neighbors and heroes. Canada's veterans-their courage, service and sacrifice have kept us strong, proud and free.

Each year, in November, hundred of commemorative ceremonies and events take place across the country to commemorate Veterans' Week and Remembrance Day.

These are opportunities for all Canadians to recognize the contribution our veterans have made and to honour those who made the ultimate sacrifice on behalf of Canada.

There are many ways to remember and honour our Veterans by; wearing a poppy or attending your local Remembrance Day Ceremony.

However you choose to remember Canada's veterans, be sure to share it with everyone you know. Together, it is our duty to pass our gratitude and keep their legacy and memories alive. This Veterans' Week, remember them.

The Five Most Common Questions About Geophysical Exploration

The Farmers' Advocate Office (FAO) has updated one of its flagship publications to help landowners understand their rights relating to geophysical exploration. Previously published under the title Seismic Operations and Landowners' Rights, the new publication is called Geophysical Exploration and Landowners' Rights. "Geophysical exploration is the process of determining if valuable mineral deposits are located beneath the earth's surface," says Jeana Schuurman, rural engagement and communications specialist with the FAO. "This new publication helps equip landowners to engage in negotiations relating to their land, and answers the five most common questions about geophysical exploration." Noted Below.

The five questions are:

Am I obligated to allow entry?

A landowner can refuse geophysical exploration. There is no expropriation for geophysical exploration, and the right of entry process that exists for oil and gas developments does not apply. If landowner permission to private land is not granted, geophysical exploration cannot occur.

How much should I be compensated?

"There is no legislated amount of compensation for geophysical exploration, so it is entirely dependent on negotiations between the landowner and the permit agent," says Schuurman. "Landowners will also receive compensation for damages caused by exploration." The FAO does not advertise landowners on compensation amounts.

What type of notification will I receive?

Any residents within 400m of a seismic line must be notified 48 hours before geophysical exploration will occur. Landowners can also request to be notified before a permittee enters the property.

How are damages addressed?

"Damages should be discussed with the permit agent after the program completes," explain Schuurman. "This may include things such as broken fences, crop damage or rutting. The landowner and permit agent should inspect the land together and specifically document each of the damages. Details is important as the company will want to compensate for damages and then be released from that damage. A company will remain responsible for unforeseen damages such as flowing holes."

Farmers' Advocate Office

Panel Echoes Farmers' Advocate Office Advisory on Rental Reduction

A recent Surface Rights Board (SRB) decision makes an important statement about the unilateral reduction of surface lease rentals in Alberta.

On August 15, 2016, the SRB issued the decision Duel Energy Inc. v. Gallagher, 2016 ABSRB 688 (CanLII). In this case, the operator had submitted that they "only pay for leases with active wells on them." The panel disagreed, stating: "Payment of compensation is not at the discretion of the operator. The Panel directs the parties to Section 27 of the Surface Rights Act. When lessors and operators enter into surface lease agreements, lessors are entitled to five-year reviews. Compensation is to be negotiated—and if the parties cannot agree, "the party desiring to have the compensation reviewed or fixed may make an application to the Board for proceedings to be held..."

"This decision echoes a warning we issued earlier this year," says Jeana Les, rural engagement and communications specialist with the Farmer's Advocate office (FAO). "In March, the FAO issued an advisory to Alberta landowners about surface lease rental reductions. One of our biggest concerns was that changes were made unilaterally. The Surface Rights Act provides an opportunity for landowners and operators to negotiate in good faith on the five-year anniversary. Good faith assumes that the negotiations are going to be honest, fair, and engage both parties."

AFSC Benefit Eligibility for Unharvested Crops

Highlights:

- Producers who cannot harvest a crop due to snow cover must detail unharvested acres on their Crop Harvest Production Report.
- Crop Harvest Production Reports are due on November 15, 2016.
- Depending on eligibility, insured clients may receive Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit and/or Supplementary Unharvested Acreage Benefit.

Wet weather conditions throughout the 2016 harvest season are challenging the ability of producers to get crops off the field. If you have Annual Crop Insurance with Agriculture Financial Services Corporation (AFSC), you may be eligible for an Unharvested Acreage Benefit. Any clients who hold Annual Crop Insurance with AFSC must detail unharvested acres on their Crop Harvest Production Reports, must be filed by November 15, 2016.

There are two types of Unharvested Acreage Benefits that a producer may be eligible to receive—the Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit and the Supplementary Unharvested Acreage Benefit. When calculated, these advances are deducted from the final post-harvest indemnity. Insured producers may be liable to repay some or all the Supplementary Unharvested Acreage Benefit if sum exceeds the post-harvest indemnity.

Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit

The Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit provides a payment of 25 per cent of the producer's coverage on a per-acre basis for unharvested acres. The unharvested acres must be in excess of 20 per cent of the total insured acres for that crop. The advance covers the difference between the total harvested acres and the number of the eligible unharvested acres.

Eligibility:

- Crop Harvest Production Reports (including details of unharvested acres) must be filed by November 15, 2016.
- The Harvest Production Report must show confirmation that a minimum of 20 per cent of insured crop acres were left unharvested.
- Adjusted production, excluding unharvested acres, must be less than the total coverage for all insured crop acres.
- AFSC must determine that unharvested acres were not a result of management practices.
- AFSC must consider it impractical for the producer to have harvested the crop.

Supplementary Unharvested Acreage Benefit

If the Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit is less than 50 per cent of the estimated Post Harvest Indemnity, a Supplementary Unharvested Acreage Benefit will be calculated and issued.

Eligibility:

- Crop Harvest Production Reports must be filed by November 15, 2016 (including details of unharvested acres).
- The Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit is less than 50 per cent of the estimated Post Harvest Indemnity.

Note: An insured producer may be eligible for the Supplementary Unharvested Acreage Benefit without receiving a Basic Unharvested Acreage Benefit. Contact your local Branch Office for more details.

For more information about the Unharvested Acreage Benefit, call the client contact centre at 1.877.899.2372, email info@afsc.ca or visit your local Branch Office.

Wild Caraway (Carum carvi)

Provincial Designation:

None but elevated to Noxious in several M.D./Counties

Overview:

Wild caraway is a biennial plant, producing a low growing rosette of leaves in its first year of growth, and then a flowering stalk (bolt) in the second year – it can even bolt and flower a third year before dying. It develops a narrow, parsnip-like taproot with a black skin and white core. This is the same plant that produces the caraway spice used in rye breads and as an ingredient in some liquors. All parts of the plant are edible. Native to Eurasia, it has escaped cultivation as a spice crop in Canada.

Habitat:

Wild caraway grows in a wide variety of soil types, pH, and climates. It will successfully reproduce under deciduous forest canopy but seems intolerant of complete shade. Bolting plants can tolerate some spring flooding and seedlings can survive light frosts.

Identification:

Stems: Stems are erect, branched, and grow 60 to 90 cm tall. There can be several stems per plant.

Leaves: Leaves are alternate and very finely divided (very carrot-like). The leaves of first-year rosettes can be very similar to yarrow, a native plant.

Flowers: Flowers are white, but occasionally pinkish, and occur in groups at the top of stems (compound umbels). Flowers hermaphroditic (having both male & female organs) and therefore self-fertile. Fruits (seeds) are crescent-shaped with ridges, and about 2 mm long.

Prevention:

Wild caraway is very difficult to detect when not in flower. Learn to recognize Wild caraway rosettes – early detection provides the best chances for eradication.

Control:

Grazing: It is not utilized by livestock and can quickly displace nearly all other vegetation where infestations go uncontrolled. Infestations in forage crops have led to weed seed dispersal in baled hay. Invasive plants should never be considered as forage.

Cultivation: Repeated cultivation before seed set are be effective. Hand pulling pre-bloom is also effective, especially in soft soils. After flowering the plants are very fragile and seeds are easily scattered – at this stage a plastic bag can be carefully placed over the mature plant, and closed tightly around the stem. Collected seed should be disposed of in landfill-bound garbage or thoroughly burned. Several years' effort is required to deplete the seed bank.

Mechanical: Repeated mowing is not effective, as plants re-bloom below cutting height.

Chemical:¹ Picloram, clopyralid, and 2,4-D Ester are very effective. Plants are easier to control in the rosette stage and before bolting. Consult your local Agricultural Fieldman or Certified Pesticide Dispenser for more information.

Biological: None researched to date.

¹ Always follow the product labels. The use of pesticides in any manner not published on the label or registered under the Minor Use of Pesticides regulation constitutes an offence under both the Federal Pest Control Products Act and Alberta's Environmental Protection and Enhancement Act.
