Daylight Savings Time officially starts on Sunday, March 13, 2022 at 2:00 a.m., when the clock will “spring ahead” an hour.

Everyone is reminded to change their batteries in their smoke alarms.

Fire fighters encourage everyone to not only have working smoke detectors, but carbon monoxide detectors as well.

March 17th ~ the tradition goes, wearing green on Saint Patrick's Day is supposed to make you invisible to leprechauns. They will pinch you as soon as you come upon their radar if you don't wear green.

Do you need a Development Permit?

Development Permits are required in Clear Hills County pursuant to the Clear Hills County Land Use Bylaw. A Development Permit ensures that the proposed use of the land does not conflict with surrounding uses and that the proposed development is set back the appropriate distances from the property lines and roadways, located in a safe location (not too close to water bodies or oil and gas facilities etc.)

When you are planning to construct a new building, structurally renovate an existing building, or change the use of your property, you will need a development permit.

The Clear Hills County Land Use Bylaw also details development NOT requiring a permit. A few common ones are:

- Any farm use building, shed, dugout (located at least 40.8m/134 feet from the road right-of-way) or minor accessory use that otherwise conforms with the provisions of the Land Use Bylaw.
- Minor repair or maintenance to a building (provided there are no structural changes).
- The erection or repair of a fence that is less than 1 meter (3 feet) in height in front yards and 2 meters (6 feet) in height in rear and side yards.
- Decks (provided they have no walls or roof and are less than .6 meter (2 feet) from the ground level.
- Accessory buildings (sheds etc.) under 9.29m² that do not have a foundation.

Development Permit Application forms are available at the County office or on the website.

Additional Permits

In addition to a Development Permit from Clear Hills County, you may also require:

- Building Permit
- Gas Permit
- Electrical Permit
- Private Sewage treatment System Permit

For more information on where to get a permit go to www.safetycodes.ab.ca or call 1-888-413-0099 toll free.

All development located within 0.8km of a provincial highway requires a Roadside Development Permit from Alberta Transportation. For more information call 780-427-2731.

Marsh Thistle

Cirsium palustre (Aka marsh plume thistle, European swamp thistle)

Alberta Regulation:
Weed Control Act

Kale Jonker

Overview:

Marsh thistle is a biennial or short-lived perennial native to Europe. How it was introduced is unknown. It was first collected in the eastern U.S. in 1902, Newfoundland in 1910, and spread steadily west since.¹ It can form very tall (up to 3 m), spiny stands in moist forest openings. It has the potential to spread and inhabit openings throughout the Boreal forest.²

Marsh thistle forms a basal rosette of leaves in its first year of growth and then produces a flowering stalk in the second growing season. It has a fibrous root system.³ All plants die after seed set (monocarpic).¹ Seeds germinate early spring and rosettes grow quickly, filling the surrounding area. These large disks of leaves exclude other plant species and provide a 'nursery' for seedlings at their margins. Marsh thistle seed germination is inhibited by shade and plant cover.¹

Marsh thistle rosettes must reach a sufficient size (at least 20 cm) for flowering stalks to be produced. Limiting factors such as light, moisture, crowding and competition can result in plants which remain in the rosette stage for 2-3 years until better conditions facilitate flowering. Shading also affects flowering, with significantly fewer flowers or sporadic flowers being produced.¹

Flowers can self-pollinate or be insect pollinated. Cross-pollinated seeds are produced in greater numbers. Marsh thistle produces two types of seeds – one better adapted to survival close to parent plants, the other better adapted to colonizing new sites. 300-2000 seeds can be produced by a single plant.¹

Habitat:

Marsh thistle grows in wet sand, sandy clay, and clay or gravelly-sandy-clay soils. It prefers acidic soils and can grow on low-nutrient soils.¹

Identification:

Stems: Are single, erect, strongly spiny-winged at leaf bases, and sometimes with ascending branches.¹ Stems grow 0.2-2.0 m, sometimes 3 m tall.²

Leaves: Are narrowly elliptic, 15-30+ x 3-10 cm, margins are deeply lobed, with spines 2-6 mm.² Leaf surfaces are smooth to soft-hairy above and lightly to densely long-hairy below.¹ Leaves are sessile (no petiole) and are gradually reduced and become widely spaced up the stem.²

Flowers: Few to many flower heads are borne in dense clusters at branch tips. Flowers are purple (rarely white). 2 Involucres (flower base) are egg-shaped with cylindrical, 1-1.5 cm tall, and covered with bracts often tipped with a sharp, pointed spine. Bracts are sparsely to densely covered with white, cobwebby hairs, the outer bracts often sticky.¹ Seeds are tan to straw-coloured, 2.5-3.5 mm long, with a pappus 9-11 mm long.²

Prevention:

Marsh thistle seeds can be dispersed by wind, water, and in soil attached to foot traffic, but most fall near the parent plant.¹ Learn to recognize marsh thistle and control new infestations quickly.

Control:

Grazing: Not recommended. Grazing appears to limit the development of marsh thistle, primarily through rosette trampling, but can also create ideal sites for germination¹ and spread seed. Invasive plants should never be considered as forage.

Mechanical: Mowing before flowering will prevent seed production. Small infestations can be hand pulled before flowering.³

Chemical: Currently no selective herbicides are registered for use on marsh thistle. Always check product labels to ensure the herbicide is registered for use on the target plant in Canada by the Pest Management Regulatory Agency. Always read and follow label directions. Consult your local Agricultural Fieldman or Certified Pesticide Dispenser for more information.

Biological: A weevil (Rhinocyllus conicus) introduced as biocontrol for another thistle species has successfully established on marsh thistle in B.C.³

Wildlife Predator Compensation Program

What to know:

The Wildlife Predator Compensation Program provides compensation to ranchers whose livestock are killed or injured by wildlife predators. Funding for the Wildlife Predator Compensation Program comes from dedicated revenue from the sale of recreational hunting and fishing licenses in Alberta and from the federal government.

- Clear Hills County Agricultural Service Bored has lobbied for and it is now allowed for photographic evidence and third party verifiers of attacks on livestock.
- If the evidence confirms that predators killed the livestock or that a predator kill was likely, the officer will file the claim on behalf of the producer.
- For all livestock, compensation is based on the average commercial value for the type and class of animal on the day it was killed.
- If the livestock killed is cattle of less than one year of age, the producer have the choice to accept compensation at the time of loss or wait until the end of October and receive compensation based on the Canfax average for the month of October, based on an average weight of 550 pounds
- The minimum payment on a confirmed kill is $400.

Fire Season Starts March 1st

The lower fire hazard in winter means it is a safer time to be doing your burns, though there are still some necessary precautions to take before burning, like monitoring the weather to ensure smoke from your burn won't negatively impact surrounding areas.

On particularly cold winter days, inversions and other weather factors can cause smoke from a winter burn to stay close to the ground and travel great distances. An inversion happens when cold air is trapped near the ground by a layer of warmer air above it. Inversions can cause dangerous driving conditions and impact nearby communities.

- * Consult local municipality and authorities on how to mitigate impacts when undertaking larger winter burning projects near communities and roadways.
- * Actively manage burn projects to reduce disposal time and smoke impacts.
- * Burning debris in stages will allow you to adapt to changing weather conditions and reduce smoke. Monitor weather conditions: lower temperatures and lighter wind speeds can result in stronger inversions. The ideal conditions for burning are typically days with the average temperatures and wind speeds over 5km/h.
- * Always ensure proper safety precautions are taken when burning and appropriate signage is in place when burning within 1 mile of a roadway.
- * Call the County at 780-685-3925 for Smoke Ahead signage.

St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick's Day, feast day (March 17) of St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland. Born in Roman Britain in the late 4th century, he was kidnapped at the age of 16 and taken to Ireland as a slave. He escaped but returned about 432 CE to convert the Irish to Christianity. By the time of his death on March 17, 461, he had established monasteries, churches, and schools. Many legends grew up around him—for example, that he drove the snakes out of Ireland and used the shamrock to explain the Trinity. Ireland came to celebrate his day with religious services and feasts. Saint Patrick's Day is celebrated on Thursday, March 17, 2022.
